
This is what visitors say about IRWM:

"Any improvements in plant and machinery can be seen and as these people are very hard to get on the phones it is great to see and talk to them in person about your queries. I found this very enlightening and did business with some of the exhibitors as I found it a great direct approach."

Felix Gormley, Owner, Used Metal Disposals

"Good opportunity to meet stakeholders throughout the waste sector, broad range of exhibitors and seminars."

Charlotte Greene, Environmental Scientist, White Young Green

"It pulls together the main players under one roof."

Conor Mac Aogain, Quality, Environmental Manager, Medentech Limited

"Many suppliers in one place. A very useful day with all the information I was looking for."

Rodney Darrington, Managing Director, Resource Recovery Ltd.

"It was a pleasant and productive day out in which I met useful contacts and learned something new at the seminars. Good location as accessible on the DART which is consistent with the theme of the exhibition."

Margaret Coles, Green Business Officer, Dún Laoghaire Rathdown County Council

"Being new to the industry, it offered me a great insight into the suppliers in the market, and allowed me to get a visual as well as mechanical perspective of the products we buy, all under (and some outside) one roof."

Jennifer Reid, Supply Chain Buyer, Greenstar Ltd.

"Very informative, new technologies."

Jane Kenneally, Scientific Officer, EPA

"Was able to meet and compare different machine suppliers within a few hours."

David Bryan, Director, Bio Plant & Agri Ltd.

"A right-sized venue hosting a good cross-section of the waste management industry."

Andrew Gilbert, Project Manager, Merseyside Waste Disposal Authority

"Very informative and up to date, a great place to network."

Frank Mulcahy, Managing Director, OCon Chemicals Ltd.

"An important forum to find out about new ways of dealing with waste management."

Joan Simon, Senior Technical Officer, UCD

"All the people in the trade that you need to meet in one place at same time and some people that you only will meet by chance by being there."

Colin Esler, Director, SCS Recycling

"Good insight to solution methodologies available for waste management, recycling and prevention."

Declan O'Connor, CEO, BQA International Ltd.

"Only Irish based event I know of."

Martin Reddy, WEEE Manager, Rehab Recycling

"To keep up to date with new technologies."

PJ Gill, Civil Engineer, Longford County Council

This is what visitors say about IWWE:

"It was good to make contact with potentially new suppliers and finding out about new products."
Caitriona Coyle, Environmental Engineer, Treatment Systems Services Ltd.

"All competing technologies at one event. Excellent insight into emerging technologies."
Pat Griffin, Environment & Utilities Manager, Temmler Ireland Ltd.

"IWWE is a must-attend event because it informs you of the products and companies throughout Ireland and the UK that may not have been known to you."
David O'Malley, Mechanical Engineer, Mayo County Council

"Biggest event of it's kind in Ireland."
Michael Merrick, Sales Director, Qconnectis Networks Ltd.

"Good balance of equipment, stands and seminars for anyone involved in the industry. I ran out of time as there were so many interesting people to meet and talk to about their products and services. I attended a seminar session which was really useful for understanding the things that were going on in the research world."
Richard Chalk, Senior Engineer, WRc plc

"It was very worthwhile to have lectures on current topics and to see the latest developments in the industry."
John Mullins, Owner, John Mullins & Associates Consulting Engineers

"Only truly national gathering of water and environment interests from clients to suppliers. A practical and focussed collection of key players in the Irish market. Excellent combination of trade fair and information exchange on a manageable scale in a classic venue."
Bob Bartindale, Senior Professional Associate, Parsons Brinckerhoff Ltd.

"Good one stop shop for anyone working in related fields. Good networking forum for review of up to date technologies in the civil and environmental fields."
Dominic Casey, Environmental Engineer, South Western River Basin District

"The exhibition keeps engineers up to date on new technology."
Kevin Sugrue, Senior Engineer, Cork County Council

"A great insight into the current state of water management in Ireland."
Justin Lawler, CTO, Qualflow Systems

"It is an excellent opportunity to meet all the major players in the industry."
Ciaran Gillen, Managing Director, BioFuture Ltd.

"It still remains one of the largest environmental exhibitions for Ireland and provides the latest technologies and up to date information of the environmental market place."
Paul Gudger, Environmental Engineer, Mouchel Parkman

"Keeps people up-to-date with current technologies."
David Clarke, Fisheries Inspector, The Loughs Agency

"Excellent chance to see products first hand, meet people face to face rather than by email or phone and to be introduced to new concepts and solutions."
Simon Furney, Director, Phragmites Ltd.